Latin School of Chicago Policy Review: Cell Phones on Campus

Project problem or opportunity: This project will address the effects of cell phones in schools by examining school policies.

Projected start date: January 2024

Client/Customer name: Latin School of Chicago

Project sponsor and stakeholders:

- Sponsor, Site Supervisor: Karen Horvath
- Stakeholders: Latin School of Chicago Faculty & Staff

Team members: Blake Gideon

Project manager: Blake Gideon

Prepared by: Blake Gideon

Date written/Version number: 2/2/24 1.0

Project objective: Brief description of the project.

Major deliverables: PowerPoint presentation

Reason(s) for the project: Administrators must monitor their institution's cell phone policy and ensure it aligns with the latest educational research in furtherance of providing students with the best education.

Project ideas: Compare LSoC's cell phone policy with peer schools. Determine if it aligns with current research. Create a PowerPoint to provide administrators & teachers with policy analysis.

Constraints: Working entirely independently. Time is a constraint. The number of teachers/staff members who will view the analysis is still being determined.

Assumptions: Will be able to speak with administrators internally and externally. Will be able to obtain peer school cell phone policies.

Risks: Could get overshadowed by everyday work @ LSoC which would cause a delay.

Approvals (Sponsors, key stakeholders, steering committee)

Approvals typically include sponsors, key stakeholders, and customers who are approving and authorizing the project to be initiated and may have final approval for the delivered product or service. Signatures denote commitment of resources, funds, and support for the project planning process. They will be included in the review of the project scope of work.
